Petition update

January 2007 SCBWA Source Water Protection Report

Smita Bharti

State College, PA

Nov 9, 2015 — (p. 42)

"The dye tracing study revealed the relatively rapid and interconnected nature of surface and subsurface flow in Slab Cabin Run and the ultimate recharge to Wellfields 1 & 3 [the Harter & Thomas wells]. The vulnerability of Wellfields 1 and 3 to surface contaminants exists as demonstrated by the presence of dye in these wellfields five days after injected into the watershed, traveling at a rate of up to nearly one mile per day. Therefore it is imperative that the SCBWA continue its management and commitment to watershed protection in Upper Slab Cabin Run to ensure the long-term protection of these very valuable water resources."
